

Framingham Cultural Council 2019 Art Competition

The Framingham Cultural Council organized and sponsored an art contest open to students in Framingham schools, ages 11-18. The theme of this year's Art Competition was "Kindness" and all submissions drew inspiration from or responded to this theme. Submissions were new and original, and not copies or reinterpretations of works by others and had not been submitted or exhibited previously. The artwork was judged by Brian Bishop, Framingham State University Art Department Chair and Professor; and Noelle Fournier, director of the Art School, Danforth Art Center at Framingham State University.
