Information and Instructions

Massachusetts General Laws chapter 152 requires all employers to provide workers' compensation for their employees. Pursuant to this statute, an employee is defined as "...every person in the service of another under any contract of hire, express or implied, oral or written."

An employer is defined as "an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other legal entity, or any two or more of the foregoing engaged in a joint enterprise, and including the legal representatives of a deceased employer, or the receiver or trustee of an individual, partnership, association or other legal entity, employing employees. However, the owner of a dwelling house having not more than three apartments and who resides therein, or the occupant of the dwelling house of another who employs persons to do maintenance, construction or repair work on such dwelling house or on the grounds or building appurtenant thereto shall not because of such employment be deemed to be an employer."

MGL chapter 152, §25C(6) also states that "every state or local licensing agency shall withhold the issuance or renewal of a license or permit to operate a business or to construct buildings in the commonwealth for any applicant who has not produced acceptable evidence of compliance with the insurance coverage required." Additionally, MGL chapter 152, §25C(7) states "Neither the commonwealth nor any of its political subdivisions shall enter into any contract for the performance of public work until acceptable evidence of compliance with the insurance requirements of this chapter have been presented to the contracting authority."

Clean-up of Vomit and Diarrheal Events Guidelines

When an employee, customer, or other individual vomits or has a diarrheal event in a food establishment, there is a real potential for the spread of harmful pathogens in the establishment. Putting the proper response into action in a timely manner can help reduce the likelihood that food may become contaminated and that others may become ill as a result of the accident.

Norovirus is the leading cause of foodborne disease outbreaks in the United States and can be highly contagious even with a small number of viral particles. Transmission occurs via foodborne and person-to-person routes, airborne inhalation of vomitus droplets, and through contact with contaminated environmental surfaces.

Effective clean-up of vomitus and fecal matter in a food establishment should be handled differently from routine cleaning procedures. It should involve a more stringent cleaning and disinfecting process. Some chemicals that are routinely used for sanitizing food-contact surfaces and disinfecting such as certain quaternary ammonium compounds may not be effective against Norovirus.

A clean-up and response plan is intended to address situations where a food employee or other individual becomes physically ill in areas where food may be prepared, stored or served. Once such an episode has occurred, TIMELY EFFECTIVE clean-up is IMPERATIVE.

When developing a Plan that addresses the need for the cleaning & disinfection of a vomitus and / or diarrheal contamination event, a food establishment should consider the following:

- The Procedures for containment and removal of any discharges, including airborne particulates.
- The Procedures for cleaning, sanitizing, and, as necessary, the disinfection of any surfaces that may have become contaminated.
- The Procedures for the evaluation and disposal of any food that may have been exposed to discharges.
- The availability of effective Disinfectants, personal protective equipment, and other cleaning and disinfecting equipment and appurtenances intended for response and their proper use.
- Procedures for the disposal and / or cleaning and disinfection of tools and equipment used to clean up vomitus or fecal matter.
- The circumstances under which a food employee is to wear personal protective equipment for cleaning and disinfection of a contaminated area.
- Notification to food employees on the proper use of personal protective equipment and procedures to follow in containing, cleaning, and disinfecting a contaminated area.
- The segregation of areas that may have been contaminated so as to minimize the unnecessary exposure of employees, customers and others in the facility to the discharges or to surfaces or food that may have become contaminated.
- Minimizing risk of disease transmission through the exclusion and restriction of ill employees as specified in 2-201.22 of the 2013 FDA Food Code.
- Minimizing risk of disease transmission through the prompt removal of ill customers and others from areas of food preparation, service and storage; and the conditions under which the plan will be implemented.
- Conditions under which the Plan will be implemented.
